US will aid Gaza without helping Hamas, says Blinken

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken vowed on Tuesday to "rally international support" to aid Gaza following a devas-tating war there while keeping any assistance out of the hands of its militant Hamas rulers, as he began a regional tour to shore up last week's cease-fire.

The 11-day war between Israel and Hamas killed more than 250 people, mostly Palestinians, and caused widespread destruction in the impoverished coastal territory. The truce that came into effect on Friday has so far held, but it did not address any of the underlying issues in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, something Blinken acknowledged after meeting with Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu. "We know that to prevent a return to violence, we have to use the space created to address a larger set of underlying issues and challenges. And that begins with tackling the grave humanitarian situation in Gaza and starting to rebuild," he said. "The US will work to rally international support around that effort while also making our own significant contributions." He added that the USwould work with its partners "to ensure that Hamas does not benefit from the reconstruction assistance.

Blinken will not be meeting with Hamas, which does not recognise Israel's right to exist and which Israel and the US consider a terrorist organisation. Blinken addressed the larger conflict, saying "we believe Palestinians and Israelis equally deserve to live safely, to enjoy equal measures of freedom and opportunity, to be treated with dignity."
